Bulletin #2009-006 01 – June - 2009

Subject:
Production Category Rule Changes

Overview:

1. Effective immediately, replace Article 10.2.B.26.i with the following:

   i. Underbody protection material and mounting hardware is unrestricted and may cover any portion of the underside of the vehicle. Fender liners may be modified, removed entirely, or replaced with alternate material.

   Rational: The Production Category Rules did not previously make provision for any floorpan protection.

2. Effective immediately, add the following to Article 10.2.B.26:

   v. The stock trunk or rear hatch release mechanism(s) may be removed or disabled and replaced with external mechanical latch(es), such as hood pins.

   Rational: Allow removal and replacement of electronic release mechanism which may be inoperable when the vehicle is disabled.
